

DEDICATION

This, our first Annual, is affectionately dedicated to Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, and to the untiring efforts of the three friends now living who have done most to make her dreams come true:

MRS. OSBORN W. BRIGHT,
MRS. GALEN L. STONE,
MRS. CHARLES M. CONNFELT.

CHARLOTTE HAWKINS BROWN, M.A., LL.D.
President of Palmer Memorial Institute

[Excerpt from pamphlet]

Some twenty-five years ago in front of the fireplace in the library at 11 Quincy Street, Cambridge, the home of Professor and Mrs. Palmer, a young colored woman spoke of the inspiration which she had a few years before received from Mrs. Palmer and of her plans and hopes of establishing a school in a neglected district in North Carolina. The little audience had come at the invitation of Professor Palmer and President Eliot to hear Charlotte Hawkins speak of her aspirations for her people in the south. That was the beginning of a school that now represents not only an investment in land, buildings and equipment of nearly half a million dollars, but also an investment in the minds and wills of a great number of young people and in the awakened skill and self-reliance of a whole country side.

Mrs. Brown is a woman of keen foresight and persistent enthusiasm who was willing to leave her home in Cambridge, and to give herself in service to those of her race who needed her most.

One thousand and more enlarged lives have passed out of this school into the various walks of life. Some have come with a few dollars, some nothing, some with a very little educational preparation, some not able to read and write. Here they found Christian teaching and opportunities to earn an education and a chance to make something of their lives.

“More than any other woman of my acquaintance, Mrs. Brown has the calmly enthusiastic religious courage which distinguished Mrs. Palmer. Mrs. Brown has, too, Mrs. Palmer’s clear judgment and tact. In steering the school through these difficult years every one of her decisions has been sagacious.”

—George Herbert Palmer, Harvard University, August 5.

FAIR PALMER

(School Song)

Fair Palmer, thy sons and thy daughters give cheer
While their voices with rapture do thrill
Thy message so sweet shall forever echo
Its harmony o'er vale and hill;
Dear Palmer, the pride of each rural home
Thus planted on soil of their own
Where the brier and the cactus once flourishing grew
Stands a tower of wood and of stone.

Fair Palmer, thy children with fervor still sing
Thy praises o'er mountain and lea;
Thy light into darkness forever shall shine
While the race pays homage to thee;
Each year as we come new trophies we bring,
At thy feet we will gladly lay down
Till the stars in the heavens each glittering gem
Lend glory to bedeck thy crown.

Some of the best known selections of this group are, "Go Down Moses," "City Called Heaven," "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," and "Joshua Fit De Battle of Jericho." The latter of these selections is best loved by the students.

The personality displayed in rendering the musical programmes has been well spoken of by some of our best known race critics, including Langston Hughes, and Richard B. Harrison. Mr. Oscar Richmond displays the talent of the opera stars while featuring Mr. Hill's dramatized arrangement of "Joshua Fit De Battle of Jericho."

The way in which Miss Juanita McRae and Miss Margaret Styles deliver "And I Cry," and "Poor Me" respectively, brings tears to the eyes of the most hard-boiled audiences.

HIGH LIGHTS IN THE HISTORY OF PALMER MEMORIAL INSTITUTE

In 1901 the American Missionary Association sent a young teacher from Cambridge, Massachusetts to take charge of a small school which had been established for colored children before 1900 in a small white church four and one-half miles from McLeansville, N. C.

The living conditions were very poor and Miss Hawkins had to live in a small dilapidated room in the parsonage. In the spring of 1902 the American Missionary Association decided to close the school because there seemed to be little or no future for it. This meant that Miss Hawkins must get a position elsewhere. The people of the community felt that Miss Hawkins had been of benefit to them and asked her to remain. Prior to Miss Hawkins' coming to North Carolina she had met an outstanding woman in the person of Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer, of Boston, Mass., who had become interested in her. Because she could not undertake the task of building up a school alone the young teacher held a conference with Mrs. Palmer in June, 1902 which strengthened her desire to return to Sedalia. The task was hard with many problems, but she met with a degree of success.

In the fall of 1902 the repair of an old log structure for the housing of two teachers and a few girl students furnished the institution with its first regular school building. Crude though it was, it nevertheless furnished the workers a place to stay near their work.

When the American Missionary Association dropped the school and Miss Hawkins had to carry the whole responsibility she renamed the school Palmer Memorial Institute in honor of Alice Freeman Palmer, its first patron.

The first attempt to raise funds for the school was in the writing of letters to people in the North. The first $200 for the first building came as a result of these letters.

In May, 1904 the foundation of the first building, Memorial Hall, a wooden structure, was laid, but was not completed until the summer of 1905. Miss Hawkins made annual trips North to acquire new friends for the school. Also some of the wealthy northern people who came South to hunt showed much interest in the school.

Even though Miss Hawkins had many problems to solve and was almost discouraged by disaster she never lost her faith in God.

Some of the early contributors to the school were: Miss Maria Baldwin, Col. Frank P. Hobgood, Mrs. Charles D. McIver, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guthrie, Mrs. O. W. Bright, Miss Helen Kimball, Brookline, Mass., Mr. E. P. Wharton, and Mr. Caesar Cone of Greensboro, N. C.

Palmer Memorial Institute entered upon a new era in 1914, because during this year Miss Hawkins had the good fortune of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Galen L. Stone, who have since given large sums of money to the school. Previously Miss Hawkins had married and was now Mrs. Charlotte Hawkins Brown.

In January, 1918, Mr. and Mrs. Stone motored from Pinehurst, North Carolina, to Sedalia to visit the school. This was the beginning of a better day for Palmer Memorial Institute. Mr. Stone offered $10,000 toward the erection of a new building and friends of the school in the neighborhood pledged an equal amount. As a result of these efforts the Alice Freeman Palmer Building, the most modern Negro school building in North Carolina at that time, was dedicated on April 9, 1922. The building when completed had cost about $150,000.

Disaster struck when on April 20, 1922, the largest dormitory containing the dining room, kitchen, and laundry was destroyed by fire. In 1924 the school again became affiliated with the American Missionary Association. In January, 1925 Mr. and Mrs. Stone pledged $75,000 toward the erection of another new building.

In the year of 1925, Mrs. Brown raised $310,000 to re-establish and to rebuild the school after the several disastrous fires. In the spring of 1927 two new buildings were dedicated. Galen Stone Hall, a well furnished modern dormitory for girls, and Kimball Hall, which stands on the site of the first building erected by the institution and is the dining hall, a memorial to the Kimball family.

On April 20, 1934, Charles W. Eliot Hall, a modern equipped boys' dormitory was dedicated. The buildings are all of brick except the home of the president and two teachers' cottages, which are constructed of wood in the finest New England Colonial manner.

From the humble beginning of a log cabin, not the best in the world, the institution has grown until now its value is estimated at above a half-million dollars.

"Where the brier and cactus once flourishing grew,
